

THE SAMBODH CENTRE FOR LIVING VALUES
In Doddaballapur, Karnataka

A Project of Sambodh Foundation, Bangalore

Date:

Dear Friend

We are delighted to inform you about the upcoming Sambodh Centre for Living Values, a project of Sambodh Foundation, located in the outskirts of Bangalore, dedicated for various charity programmes, inspired by spiritual ideals. The Centre is founded by the disciples and friends of Swami Bodhananda, an acclaimed Spiritual Teacher in India and the West, and its mission and vision inspired by him.

Sambodh Foundation is a non-profit organization in Bangalore dedicated for creating and recreating living values for a growing society. The profile of Sambodh in Bangalore includes a variety of social and spiritual programs with focus on charity work, rural uplift, ecological and spiritual values, and holistic living. Sambodh Foundation has been also actively involved in designing a significant number of management programs pursuing excellence in leadership.

Sambodh Centre for Living Values is presently a dream that is awaiting fruition. The very many programmes that we intend to start, to begin with in a humble way, are detailed in the brochure that include free community health centre for the villagers of Doddaballapur, free meal programme, home for destitute children and women, and, vocational training centre etc. An Ashram where a community of people, inspired by such noble service work, live and offer a calm and serene home for fellow-travellers to visit or stay occasionally is another component of our dream.

Supported entirely by the well wishers of Sambodh and honorary workers, we will be able to fulfil the great works in front of us only by the friendship and generous cooperation from people like you. Help and support from you of any nature will be gratefully acknowledged. Of course, as always, to offer prayers for you and your family will be our duty.

You might like to choose from the programmes detailed in the brochure for your support and contribution. If you wish to contribute towards planting trees, and help preserve our natural resources, VRIKSHA RAKSHA is the programme that awaits your participation. GORAKSHA, the programme for maintaining a home for cows and cattle, VRDDHA SAMRAKSHA, the programme to set up a home for the aged, AYUR SAMRAKSHA, a programme to provide free nutritious food for destitute children and pregnant women, ATMA SAMRAKSHA, the programme to set up a home for physically and mentally challenged, BALA BAALIKA SAMRAKSHA, a programme to set up a vocational training centre, AROGYA SAMRAKSHA, the programme to set up a free community health centre, AYUR AROGYA SAMRAKSHA, the programme to set up a Ashram for holistic healing and living close to mother nature, to build a SATSANG hall – these are some of the programmes, that await your help and generous support, for providing health, care, education, and self-sustenance for a village that needs responsible attention from us.

Apart from the social and charity programmes, led by our past endeavours, we also look forward to programmes fostering management and leadership studies in the context of the Indian milieu. We have plans to also devote a programme dedicated for consciousness, mind and value studies that would incorporate the wisdom traditions of the East and the West with varied perspectives from science, philosophy, psychology and the arts.

We will be so glad and grateful if you wish to partly or fully sponsor any of these programmes. Needless to say, Sambodh Centre will acknowledge your support by physical as well as spiritual gestures.

We earnestly look forward to your positive response and participation. We are sure we will be able to go ahead with the noble ideals that have inspired us, with your encouragement and support.

On behalf of our Guru Swami Bodhananda, and all well wishers and friends of Sambodh, may I wish you the very best in your professional and personal life.

Warm Regards,

S GOPALAKRISHNAN
